Britton appointed to state EMS Advisory Council by Robb

Appomattox Town Manager and County Special Projects Assistant Bill Britton has been named by Gov. Charles S. Robb to the state Emergency Medical Services Advisory Council.

Britton was notified of his appointment last week in a letter from Susan D. McHenry, director of the Division of Emergency Medical Services.

The Emergency Medical Services Advisory Council is the body which determines policies regulating rescue squads and related emergency medical agencies throughout the Commonwealth.

Britton serves as Emergency Services Coordinator for the Central Virginia Planning District, and is vice president of the Emergency Services Task Force for the Central Virginia Planning District.

He is also a certified search and rescue scuba diver, a certified river-rescue technician, and is certified by the Red Cross to administer first aid.

Britton notes that his interests are in working with rural volunteer rescue squads. He has represented Appomattox County Volunteer Rescue Squad in the General Assembly when rules governing the volunteer emergency medical services have been discussed.

Britton, who holds a B.S. degree in community services from Virginia Commonwealth University, notes that he is "very appreciative of the opportunity to represent the interests of the rural volunteer rescue squads" from this area.

Britton notes that as a member of the Emergency Medical Services Advisory Council, he will work to continue the traditon of high standards of quality in Virginia lifesaving agencies.

He wants to see, moreover, "that the rural rescue squads are well represented so that they're not regulated out of business."

'Damn Yankees' Play starts tonight

It's finally all coming together.... the weeks of rehearsals, building sets, collecting and sewing costumes and everything else that it takes to get a production ready for opening night.

"Damn Yankees", the third production of Depot Dramatics, is ready for you! Opening on Thursday night, July 29 and running through Saturday night, July 31, the curtain goes up at eight o'clock each evening in the old Farmers Supply Building on Harrell Street in downtown Appomattox.

Admission is $3.00 for adults and $2.50 for children, five through 12 years of age. Tickets are available at The Clothesline. Reserved seats are available for $3.50 and $2.50 by calling 352-8994.

Member's meeting discussed by C-of-C

Preliminary plans for the annual fall general membership meeting of the Appomattox County Chamber of Commerce were discussed at Monday's meeting of the Chamber's board of directors.

The meeting will be held in late October, after the Railroad Festival, the directors decided. One date which was discussed was Oct. 21, a Thursday night.

The directors also decided to pursue the Chamber's membership drive with renewed vigor. Three new memberships were reported since the June monthly meeting of the Board of Directors. The new members include Steve Cawthorne (individual membership), and W. A. Stratton Construction Co. and Gibbs Forest Products Co., both business memberships. This brings the total chamber membership to 60, including 41 businesses and 19 individuals.

In other business, the directors received word that Longwood College staff is progressing on formulating a plan for a summer drama production at old Appomattox Court House.

The earliest projected date for such a production would be summer of 1983, according to the report.

Essays on "What Can I Do For My Country?" won recognition and cash prizes for three young people in the second annual essay contest sponsored by the Oakville Ruritan Club.

Stella Osborne, Steve Cyrus and Bently Nash received certificates of recognition, an American flag and cash awards of $50, $25, and $10.

The awards, sponsored by the Citizenship and Patriotism Committee of the club, were made at the class day exercises at the Appomattox County High School earlier in the spring.

Winners and their families were honored at the July dinner meeting of the Oakville Ruritan Club at the club house.

Each contest winner read his or her essay to the club. Copies of the essays were filed with the club records.

Lloyd Walton, Superintendent of the Appomattox County School Division, gave a short address about the contest, stating the aims, the opportunities for promotion of good citizenship, patriotism and increasing the participants knowledge of our United States constitution.

Stella Osborne, first place winner, (also first place winner in last year's contest), is the daughter of Ottie Conner Osborne and Jesse Osborne. She will be attending Lynchburg College in the fall.

Steve Cyrus, second place winner, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cyrus. He will begin his senior year at Appomattox County High School in the fall.

Bently Nash, third place winner, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Nash. He will begin his senior year at Appomattox County High School in the fall.

There are several items to report under the general heading of "Good News." Sunflowers are in bloom. Three in my garden last Friday and several more since. The birds will be delighted. Morning Glories are running up the sunflower stalks, but they are not looking for seed. Just trying to get up in the world. And, good news, too, when my neighbor brought us corn from his fine garden. I am very fond of corn on the cob. Still more "good news." It pays to advertise, so last week I reported that I had no rain gauge and had to guess at how much rainfall we had. Mrs. Irene Mays did something about that. Brought me a nice rain gauge. Thanks. Have not set it up yet but will be in the rain measuring business by the first of the month. Which means August and that recalls a bit of history. The month used to be called Sextilis and was the sixth month, but Roman Emperor Augustus felt it was his lucky time of year and had the month renamed after himself. Even added an extra day to have it same length as July which had been named for Julius Caesar. The Roman Senate went along with all this.

* * *

Revival meeting time and this week my friend, the Rev. Omar G. Burnette is guest minister for a revival at Chestnut Grove Baptist Church. I think of Rev. Burnette as the Billy Graham of Virginia Baptists. His average is around 35 revivals per year.

Mrs. Phoebe O'B. Childs phoned in to report a Red Glad eight-one inches tall, from a bulblet, near the house. Plus several around six feet. I had been proud of one forty-two inches, from my garden. Hurrah for gardens and flowers.

My friend Thomas Richardson was by to bring me a copy of The Danville Virginian, a fine newspaper. Volume 42 Number 26. From his daughter, Mrs. Jane Barnwell, of Danville. One item in said paper reports on the VA-NC Piedmont Genealogical Society, for those interested in tracing and preserving one's ancestry. Began four years ago by sixteen people with a common interest, and now has grown to over 450 members.

Once again, a salute to our fine younger generation. In recent days an impressive number have knocked at the door seeking a chance to work at mowing or other work. Thus far I have been able to do my own mowing, but 'tis nice to see young peopole willing and anxious to work. One day I painted the iron railing around a patio. Birds checked it out before it could dry.

In the mail, the fall football schedule of my college team, Univ. of Richmond opens Sept. 4 against Virginia Tech, at Richmond. Which brings up the nearness of football practice for this year's edition of the ACHS Raiders. Try out, fellows, you might make it. An era of large squads; I noted one college had fifty-four lettermen returning. Ah yes, but lots of baseball time left; the World Series set for Oct. 12. Thanks for reading and seeya around.

Students attend 4-H Congress

Twenty-four delgates and an adult leader and Extension Agent represented Appomattox County at the 1982 4-H Congress in Blacksburg June 21-25, 1982. The theme of the week's activities was "Pathway to Success." This was carried out in all of the learning activities and programs.

Active, busy and involved was the name of the game for 4-Hers from Appomattox during Congress week. Pictured in the official delegation from Appomattox County are the following: (First Row) DELISA WATKINS Participated in the "Learning for Leadership" activities; DONNA BALDWIN-Demonstrated in Auto Care and Safety and won a blue ribbon; KATHY PARSONS-A state winner in the Photography presentation contest area. Kathy won a camera outfit; LAURA WALTON-Served as East Central District Girls Cabinet member and was elected Ambassador for Virginia for 1982-83; DARRELL CONNER-Member of the State winning Land Appreciation Judging Team. Darrell was top scorer in the entire state and won an all expense paid trip to Oklahoma to represent Virginia in the National Land Appreciation Contest; PATTY CUMBOW-A delegate from West Virginia who was hosted by the Appomattox delegation; CONNIE KRANTZ Won a scholarship to Blacksburg from the American Institute of Cooperation and participated in the activities of the AIC during the week of Congress; MISS PAM WHITE-Served as volunteer leader and advisor to the "Congress Crier," the daily newspaper. Miss White was also tapped into the Virginia Chapter of 4-H All Stars, being recognized for her leadership in 4-H in the county, district and state. (Second Row) TERRI NASH-Was elected Girls Cabinet member from the East Central District and was tapped into the Virginia Chapter of 4-H All Stars; MITZI BALDWIN-Participated in the "Learning for Leadership" activities; JENNIFER INGE-Participated in the "Learning for Leadership" activities; ROSE CHRISTIAN-Made a presentation in the Milk and Milk Products area and won a blue ribbon; MARLENE WATKINS-Participated in the "Learning for Leadership" activities; ROBERT TAYLOR-Won a blue ribbon in the Wildlife Presentation Contest and was State Winner, receiving a radio; RUBY SMITH-Made a blue ribbon presentation in Bicycle Safety. He won an all-expense paid trip to Oklahoma City for National competition; DAVID HANCOCK-A blue ribbon winner in the State Share the Fun Show and was one of five top acts out of 54 who won the State Show. David was also unit spokesman; GLEN MCCLENNY-Served as a member of the Meats Identification Team, was a delegate to the Nominating Assembly, and was tapped into the Virginia Chapter of 4-H All Stars. Glen received a $200 college scholarship as a winner in the Cal-Calf Program; RICHARD CONNER-Member of the first place Land Appreciation Team and fourth high scorer in the state. Richard won an all-expense paid trip to Oklahoma City for National competition; (Not Pictured) JINNY FILLINGAME-Blue ribbon winner in the area of Entomology.

Appomattox 4-Hers represented their homes and county well. We, the Appomattox Extension Staff, are extremely proud of them and their fine accomplishments. Congratulations 4-Hers. Best of luck as you continue to grow and develop the 4-H way and continue on the "Pathway to Success."

Lady's dream became reality

By Frances H. Paulette

National Chairman for the Technical Committee for the United States Skill Olympics.....an honor and a dream come true. A dream that began a long time ago.....

The year was 1931 and the graduating seniors at Appomattox High School were getting ready for the long awaited event. Of all the goings on, Gertrude Stewart was preoccupied with the activities of two of her good friends. One of the senior girls was fixing the hair of another girl. She worked with so much ease and it soon became evident that the transformation was going to be something special.

"Oh, how I would like to be able to do that," said Gertrude to herself. "It would really be satisfying to be able to help other girls to look their prettiest."

The pace accelerated and graduation became a reality and Gertrude thought no more about the beauty business...until a little later.

Born in Cincinnatti, Ohio, Gertrude Stewart Wooldridge moved to Virginia when she was approximately one year old. The daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Stewart, Sr., of the Evergreen community, she didn't take many trips as a young girl but she did go with a group of friends to Richmond.

One of the highlights of Gertrude's trip to Richmond was a visit to the beauty salon in the Miller and Rhodes store. Once again, as she watched trained beauticians working with women of all ages, she felt the desire to do this kind of work.

After graduation from high school, Gertrude went to work at Sweet Briar College as a waitress. By this time she was beginning to fix the hair of some of her friends and enjoying every minute of it.

For five years she worked at Sweet Briar and as she worked and saved she became more and more determined to become a trained beautician.

After five years of hard work she began training for her chosen work at LeVirl Beauty School in Lynchburg. Following completion of her schooling, she worked in Lynchburg. She enjoyed every minute of it but all the while she wanted to do more than just work.

In September of 1937 Gertrude Stewart married Jeter Witt Wooldridge of Appomattox County. They moved to Covington and after working for someone else for a time, they opened their own salon there.

In 1954 Gertrude became active in the State Hairdressers Association. All the while, she was studying, at Clinch Valley College in Wise, VPI/SU and UVA.

In 1957 she began teaching in Wise County Technical School.

"VICA, Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, Inc., was organized in the early '60's I believe," said Wooldridge," and through my school work I became active with this organization."

She was appointed to the Technical Committee for The United States Skill Olympics in 1974 and has chaired the national committee every year since her appointment with the exception of one.

In 1965 she went to Woodbridge where she taught Cosmotology at the high school there.

Wooldridge was named Kentucky Colonel in August of 1971 following her election as President of the National Interstate Council of State Boards of Cosmotology. Prior to this appointment she was a member of Virginia State Board of Cosmotology.

She has served as president of Business and Professional Women's Clubs in Covington, Wise and Woodbridge. She is listed in Who's Who of American Women; Who's Who, South and Southwest; The World, Who's Who of Women; International Directory of Biography; and in Personalities of the South.

Gertrude and her husband Jeter Witt are members of Rocks Baptist Church and members of the Appomattox County Historical Society.

Though retired, Wooldridge maintains an active interest in all fields of cosmotology both in the state and nation.
